

The Acadians are descendants of French colonists who settled 400 years ago in what is now the Atlantic region. Quebecers live in Quebec. Most are

French-speaking descendants of French settlers from the 17th and 18th centuries who brought many French traditions with them. Quebecers have a unique identity, culture and language. In 2006, the Canadian parliament recognized the Quebecois form a nation within a united Canada. One million English-speaking Anglo-Quebecers form an important part of Quebec society. The Acadians are descendants of French colonists who settled 400 years ago in what is now the Atlantic region. Quebecers live in Quebec. Most are